Bland Mine Shipping Good Ore.

Preparations are being made by Frank Reichert for beginning shipments of rich gold-silver-copper ore from the Bland Group in the Alto section. This property is owned by William Powers of Patagonia and T. M. Heck and Frank Reichert of Alto.

The group consists of ten claims and endlines the Royal Blue (now shipping) on the north and lies between the Alto, a rich copper property, and the old Salero, a famous silver property now called the Eureka, with J. M. Hackett's Rosario Group on the south.

The property was first worked by George Clark, Jens Peterson, William Powers and Dane Harmon, the first owner of the Bradford, who later allowed his interest to go by default. T. M. Heck bought the Clark and Peterson interest and later Mr. Reichert obtained a holding in the group.

Over 2000 feet of work has been done, the longest tunnel being in 1500 feet, with several crosscuts, all in vein matter, another tunnel follows the ledge for several hundred feet. Five claims are on the lead to be shipped from, a distance of two and one-half miles.

The Royal Blue vein has been crosscut on the group, the higher ground being on the Bland. Several shipments have been made from the Bland ledge and the shipment to be made the coming week will be followed by regular consignment to the smelter, as Mr. Reichert will devote his attention hereafter to the Bland-Patagonian.

Special Agents Pierson and Culbertson of the department of the interior at Washington, completed their inspection of scrip filings in the southwestern part of the state and left for the north to complete their investigations, after which they will return to Washington to make their final report. Final action in the scrip cases will probably follow shortly after the report is submitted. —Prospector.

Manganese ores are now selling at the eastern markets at from $80 to $100 per ton. This extraordinary jump has been made on account of the lack of that metal. The United States uses normally 350,000 tons of manganese ore annually, the greater part of which has been imported. The western fields have ample supplies of manganese, but the low cost of the imported material did not leave enough profit to lure the miner into that field of production.
